When Time, who steals our years away
Shall steal our pleasures, too,
The mem'ry of the past will stay,
And half our joys renew.

Thomas Moore

Conversations of good times spent,
The names and places mean nothing yet,
Lunch time chatter filled with fun,
But not for one who's known by none.

People ask to know your name
And then look past you just the same,
Counselors say,
"It all takes time."

Every smile that comes my way
Makes bright
These first few dreary days.

I never knew that smiles were such
As could light the way for one Otherwise . . .

HOMECOMING

Homecoming is here at last
Unique as are those of the past.
Characters flowing beyond any range,
The people and faces forever change.
The game and the dance come again,
Let's remember where the fun began.
Forever and ever it's in our minds,
Memories of the past we've left behind.

Lori Limberger '82

A friend is somebody who comes in when the whole world has gone out.

Every person is a bundle of possibilities, and he is worth what life may get out of him before it is through.

Harry Emerson Fosdick

In other things the Knowing artist may Judge better than the People;
But a play

(Made for delight,
And for no other use)
If you approve it not,
Has no excuse

Edmund Waller

Young heads are giddy and young hearts are warm,
And make mistakes for manhood to reform,
Boys are, at best, but pretty buds
unblown,
Whose scent and hues are rather guess'd
than known;
Each dreams that each is just what he appears,
But learns his error in maturer years,
When disposition; like a sail unfurl'd,
Shows all its rents and patches to the world.

Hello there aged Senior,
Will you shout, or cry, or cheer?
Take your load, and find some road,
You won't be back next year.

What joy, and yet what sorrow,
Where was that last tomorrow?
As is the past, it wouldn't last,
Since time is not for borrow.

How disraught, and yet how fine,
To leave your school behind,
But friends so true, are leaving too,
This Senior class of mine.

How do you describe the relation,
That bonds a teenage mass?
How do you describe the sensation,
To belong to the Senior class?

It seems we all are actors,
And that nothing stops the show.
No matter what the factors,
On and on we go.

So school is but a play,
Another act, another day.
Some acting so glad, some acting so sad,
That school is but a play.

The words upon this page,
Shall be forgotten as they age.
But there'll be memories for all,
In each year's curtain call

Life's Sparkling Fountains

Just yesterday morning, in a masquerade,
With endless dreams that could not fade;
We were living our lives but not realizing
That in our young minds we were only surmising;
Sometimes talking without really speaking,
Frequently hearing without really listening;
We could take our own time out on easy lines
Not seeing moments as prisoners of time.

But here we are — never met this road before,
The first act is over as we look out the door,
We hear our own calls, we'll climb different mountains,
Discovering ourselves in Life's Sparkling Fountains.

We'd like to know more of the world, you see,
Gonna take our chances while we're still young and free,
Gonna go to the places we were promised we'd go,
But we must begin now — time is precious, we know.

We're going to pursue our dreams, such promising themes . . .
Our future is our destination,
And thanks to you, with appreciation,
We understand we're just beginning to grow.

When childhood seems to Paint shining landscapes on your mind,
When emptiness is filled
By roses from the past,
Look to a future
Rich with a dream

If desperation entices you
From within,
If the blackest nights seem
To last forever,
Dream on, child.

Even the grayest of mornings
Is made silver by an endless dawn,
The bleakest of moments made
Beautiful by the sparkle of a fantasy

For from the earthly moments
Of the deepest autumn depressions
Come the worlds of the prophets
The platinum verses of poetry.

I watch the birds and see them fly.
Then I sit and wonder why.
The stars are blue, the ground is dark.
I can jump and touch the sky.
You can come and you can fly
but only first you must die.

The world won't stop, you cannot stay.
You'll return some other way.
We must go and start to fly.
Don't be scared and don't you cry.

You will return again to earth.
A mother is waiting for your birth.
You will walk and I will fly.
I'll be watching from the sky.

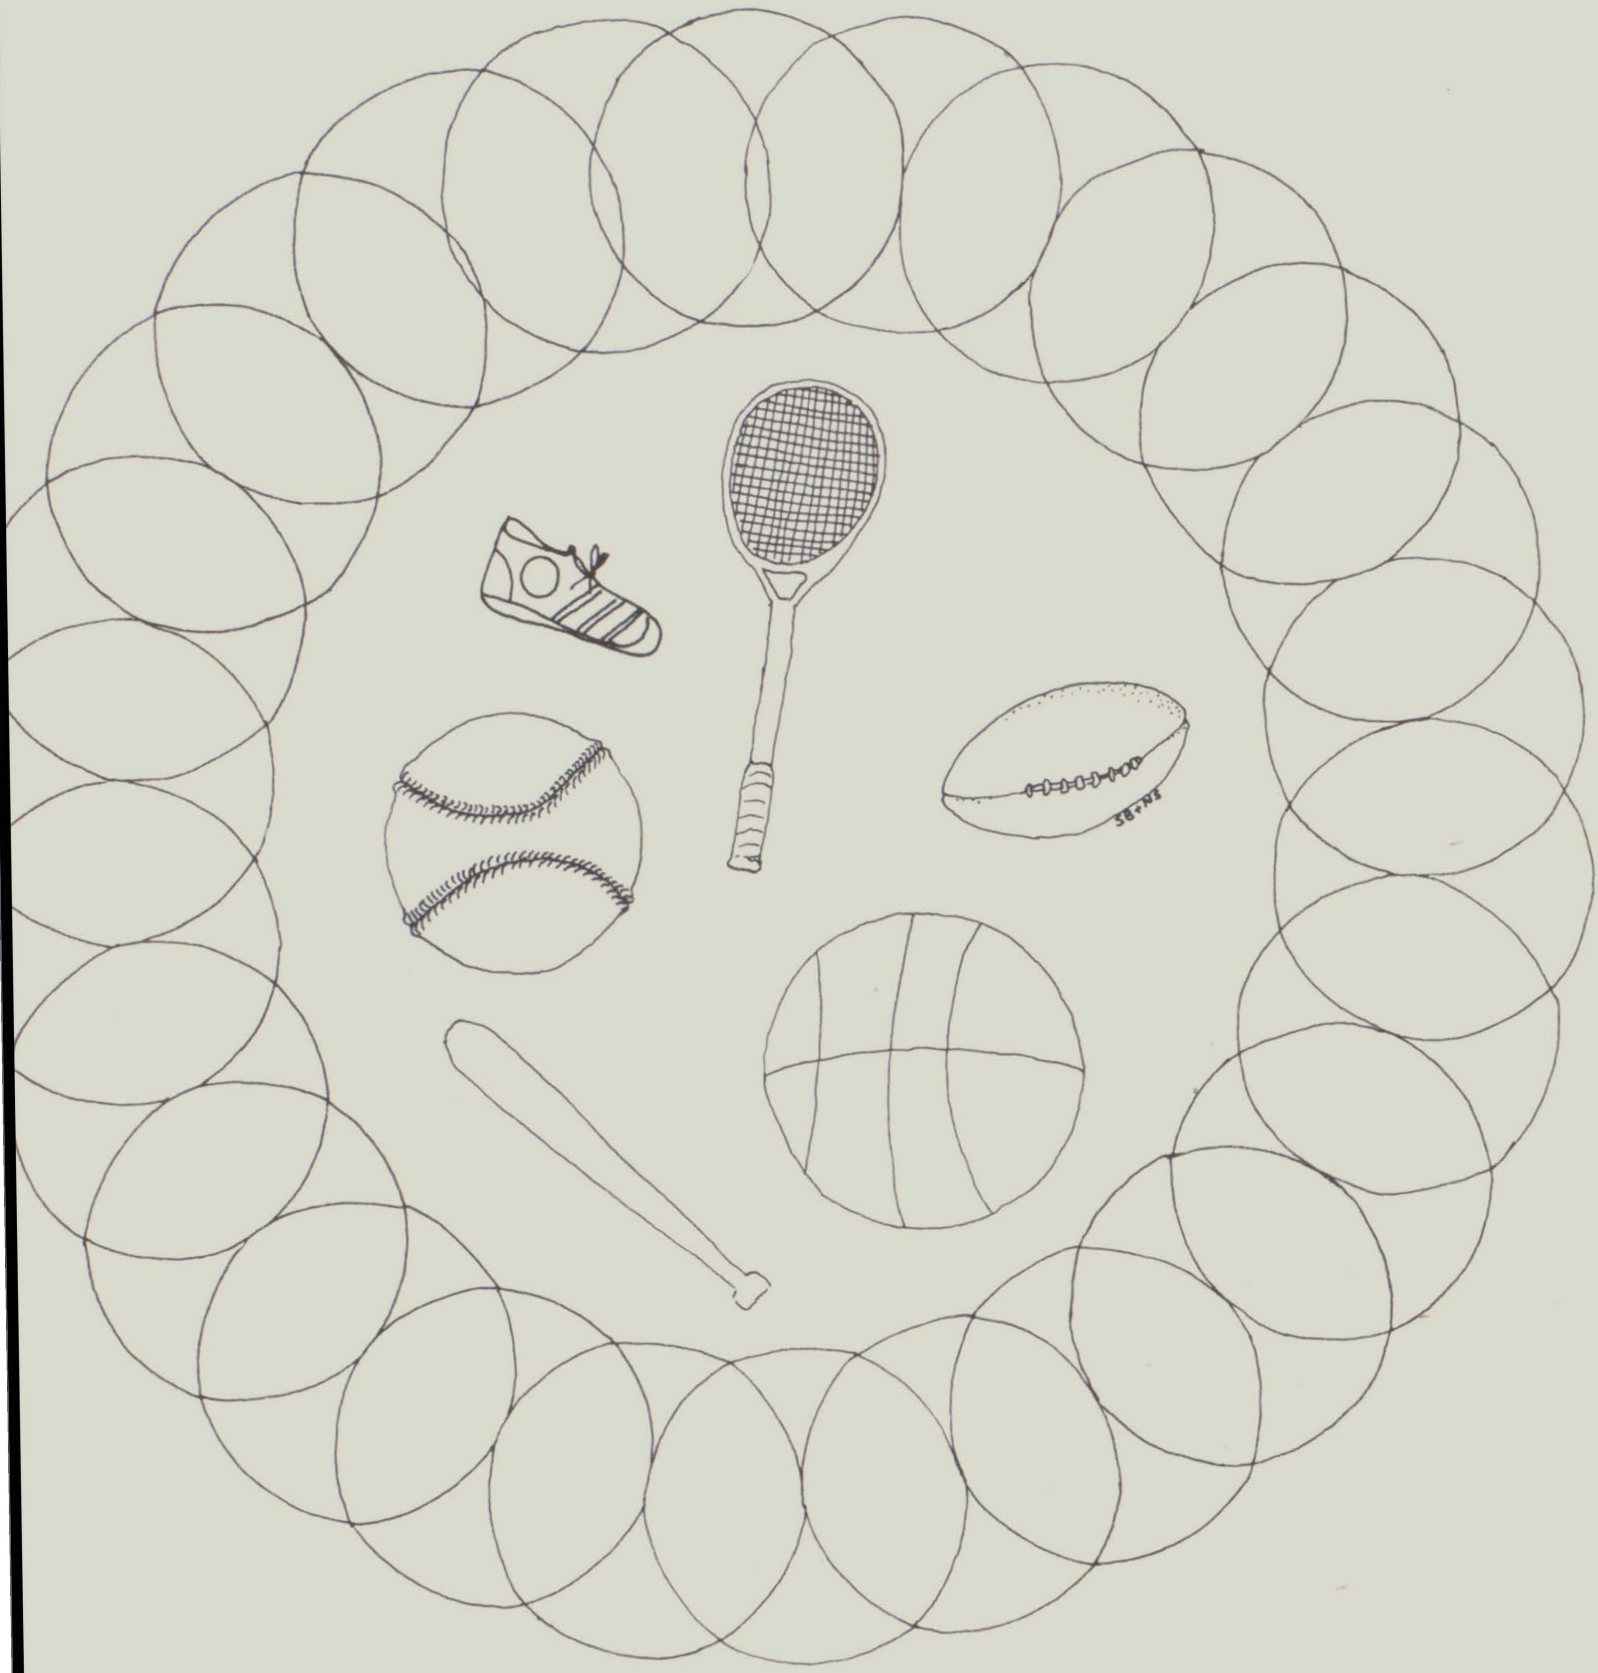
Our common actions in reality are simply the sackcloth covering which hides the cloth-of-gold — the meaning of the pattern. For us artists there waits the joyous compromise through art with all that wounded or defeated us in daily life; in this way, not to evade destiny, as ordinary people try to do, but to fulfill it in its true potential — the imagination. Otherwise, why should we hurt one another?

Lawrence Durrell
Justine
(Barbara Stuckey's quote)



Another World

For when the great scorer comes to write against your name, He makes — not that you won or lost — But how you played the game

"With Me"

Come walk among the stars with me
And gaze at all the majesty
I'll give to you and make you mine
Together we will rule all time.

Come stroll around the moon with me
And show the world that you believe
Our triumph will last forever
None against us endeavor.

Come glide throughout the clouds with me
Together we'll find reality
And face the world for what it should be
And ponder at what the others don't see.

Come trudge the miles of earth with me
Each other is all we'll ever need
No power made out of planets and moons
Is needed to show my love for you.
